

SAFER SEAS III 2011

« For safer and cleaner seas »

from Tuesday 10th to Friday 13th May 2011

Le Quartz Conference Center - Brest, France

Brest Métropole Océane urban council is working in coordination with the Technopole Brest Iroise science park and supported by the Brittany marine competitiveness cluster to organize the 3rd international Safer Seas event devoted to issues of maritime safety and security.

Over the four days, Safer Seas offers a one-of-its-kind, multi-sector approach for institutional stakeholders, operators and marine and maritime professionals, enterprises and research institutes, and students:

- theme-based plenary conferences in several languages
- round-table discussions and feed-back sessions on world-scale experiences
- specialized workshops
- poster sessions
- a Trade show area, demonstrations and site visits

The 2011 event's dominant theme is climate change and its stakes for maritime shipping and navigation.

Strand 1 - Policies, regulations, technological innovations & operational means and facilities: progress made for maritime safety since Safer Seas 2007

Strand 2 - Climate change and its stakes for maritime shipping and navigation

Strand 3 - Geo-strategic context & maritime security
